District One Commander's Report

The calendar shows that it is May and one is left to ponder how one can slow the clock so that there is more time to enjoy friends family and life itself. One of the great pleasures of being the District Commander is to meet members throughout the district while attending meetings and events. As you know our District Meeting is fast approaching and I hope that Base Officers have set aside June 2, 2007 to attend the meeting. This should be a spouse friendly time where host Marblehead Base has planned activities after the meeting that we will share with our wivies. If Base Commanders have not received an invitation please contact Marblehead Base to ensure they have your correct contact information.

Eastern Region Director has clarified the process and schedule for the Election of District Commanders. The next election for District One will be prior to the 2008 District One meeting and the new District Commander will relieve during that meeting. It is not to early for Bases to begin taking a closer look at membership to identify good candidates for this rewarding position.

My time this month and next will be dominated by the USSVI Anniversary Weekend, the Eastern District One meeting, the Holland Club Indiction ceremony in Groton which will include members from Groton, Rhode Island, and Long Island Bases, and the Eastern Region Meeting.

Stay well shipmates and share your stories with your friends and family. PW Louthain, ED1 CDR

44th USS Thresher Memorial Service

The 44th anniversary memorial service of the loss of the USS Thresher was held on April 14, 2007. This year's service was held in Kittery at the R.W. Traip Academy. The welcoming address was given by Captain Iverson, Commander, Portsmouth Naval Shipyard. His welcoming statement was followed by remarks by Captain Gregory R. Thomas, PNS Operations Officer and Prospective Commanding Officer, Pearl Harbor Naval Shipyard and Commander Rovert E. Cosgriff, CO, USS Hyman G. Rickover. It was then a pleasure to listen to Lori Arsenault, daughter of ENCA(SS) Tilmon Arsenault, perform the Navy Hymn. This set the stage for the somber Tolling of the Bells for the 129 men who lost their lives on April 9, 1963. While Kevin Galeaz and Bill Tebo read the names and STSCM(SS) Jeff Rowe tolled the bell, the melodic sounds of a bagpipe, played by Patrick Boyle, could be heard in the distance. A poignant powerpoint slideshow of photos of the lost ran in unison with the reading of the names.

After Chaplin Steven Bartell's Benediction, the service continued down at the waterfront. Chaplin Bartell led us in a prayer which was followed by a gun salute from the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard Rifle Team. While the wreath was being prepared, Mr. George Stevens, United States Submarine Veteran, played taps. Mrs. John Harvey, the wife of LT Commander Harvey, had the opportunity to release the wreath off the dock into the outgoing tide. Piper Boyle concluded the ceremony with the Navy Hymn.

Family Response

I would like to thank you all for the very nice service held at traip academy. Showing a picture of each man as his name was called was wonderful. I sure hope you do that from now on. I really liked the service at traip as it was easy to get in & out no stairs. The auditorium was bright & very well set up. Hope you have it there every year.

If there is any way I can assist you please let me know as I would be very happy to help. Again, thank you so much I will be telling all what a nice job.

It would be nice if this was put in the paper the day before so that anyone that is not on the mailing list would perhaps by word of mouth hear about the service.

Now that I found the web site I will be checking things out more often.

Sincerely,
Gale O'Loughlin
Widow of Dan A Philput

To Perpetuate the Memory

Robert Donald Biederman was born on August 27, 1930, in Hartford, Connecticut. While attending Weaver High School in Hartford, he was active in sports, including track, cross country, and basketball. After being graduated from high school in 1948, he entered the University of Connecticut, and in June 1950, he was accepted as a midshipman at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. He was graduated from the Academy with the class of June 1954, and commissioned as an ensign.

His first assignment as a naval officer was aboard the Newport-based destroyer U.S.S. Hyman (DD 732).

After 3 years of sea duty, Robert was selected for postgraduate study at Webb Institute of Naval Architecture, Glen Cove, Long Island, N.Y. He successfully completed the course of study and was graduated with a master of science degree in naval architecture.

Robert volunteered for submarine duty and entered the Submarine School at the U.S. Naval Submarine Base, New London, Connecticut. His first assignment in submarines, after completing the course of instruction, was in the U.S.S. Cavalla (SS 244). It was while serving in that command that Robert qualified as a submariner and was awarded his gold dolphins; insignia of the submariner.

He reported to the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard in June 1962, where he studied in the Nuclear Power Submarine Familiarization Training Unit until December. In January 1963, Robert was assigned to the U.S.S. Thresher (SSN 593), in his capacity as senior ships superintendent for non-nuclear work for the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard.

During his naval career, Robert had been awarded the Navy Occupation Service Medal with European Clasp and the National Defense Service Medal.

He is survived by his widow, the former Bettie Boehringer of Meridan, Connecticut; sons, Gregory, Bruce and Eric; and a daughter, Deborah. He also leaves his mother, Mrs. Dorothy S. Biederman; four brothers, and three sisters, all of Hartford, Connecticut.

Roy Overton Denny, Jr., was born on February 8, 1939, in New York City. He attended schools there until his family moved to Groton, Conn., in November 1950. He was graduated from Robert E. Fitch High School, Groton, in June 1957.

Roy's career in the Navy and in submarines was apparent from an early age. His father, who died in 1956, served in submarines during a 28-year career in the Navy. Roy's interests were directly connected with ships and the sea; nautical books and ship models were his favorite hobbies.

After basic training at the Navy's Submarine School at the U.S. Naval Submarine Base, New London, Conn., Roy enlisted in the regular Navy in October 1957.

His first submarine duty was in the U.S.S. Threadfin (SS 410), in which he became qualified as a submariner, and was awarded his silver dolphins. In November 1958, he attended the Navy's Electrician's Mate School and following graduation he was selected for advanced training in nuclear power. Roy successfully completed the course of training at New London, and at the special prototype training unit at Windsor Locks, Conn. He was assigned to the U.S.S. Thresher (SSN 593) on February 27, 1961.

March 2007 Meeting

Due to poor weather conditions, the March 2007 meeting was not held. Gary Hildreth was able to make it the VFW hall in case anyone showed up. Even though one person did show, there was no point in holding the meeting.
